The emulator lobby has buttons that allow you to run the Windows versions of PPPoker, Upoker and Suprema directly from Asian Tool.

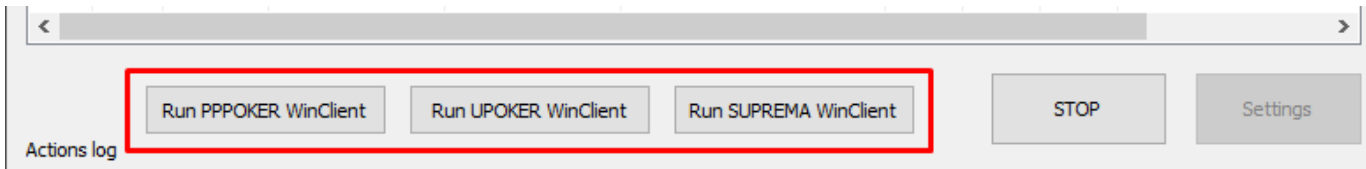

You can run these applications and with their shortcuts as usual, this will not affect anything. These buttons are for your convenience only. X-Poker only works with the Asian Tool through the emulator, so there is no button to run it.

Launch the application clients one after the other with a short pause (a couple of seconds), so that integration of the Asian Tool and the running client has taken place. It is not necessary to start everything at once, as this may cause problems with the program.
Press the "START" button. The Asian Tool will find the installed clients of your poker applications.
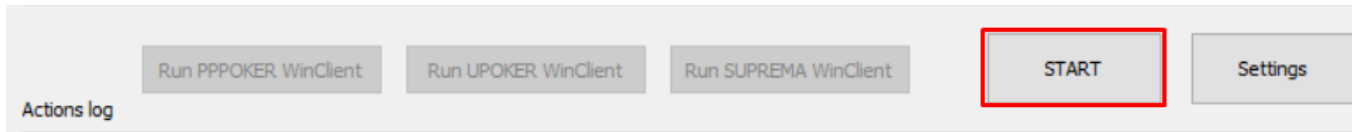

5. Hotkeys

The Asian Tool allows the use of flexibly configurable hotkeys, which can play a series of mouse clicks on the table in the desired locations by pressing a preset keyboard shortcut. For example, you can press the space bar, set up a click on the fold button on the table, or even click for a specific bet setting, and assign it to a key press or keyboard shortcut. The Hotkeys manual for the Asian Tool can be found here.
6. Datamining convertation

To convert the different formats of datamining purchased from KingsHands website, AsianConverter / AsianTool has a built-in datamining convertation feature. It can help to convert hand history from Pokerstars format to specific Asian room formats for Hand2Hote, Holdem manager2/3, PokerTracker 4 trackers.

8. What are Pot Odds?

Our converter has a Pot Odds function. It is implemented in our converter. You can switch it on/off in converter settings

Pot-odds refers to the ratio of the pot to the bet we need to call.

Pot-odds is the ratio between the current pot size and the price of your call. Simply put, it's the ratio of reward to risk, and that's what poker is all about. Minimising risk while maximising reward.

Pot-odds can be converted from a ratio to a percentage and then compare that percentage to the equity of your hand to determine the profitability of each of your actions. This is something that will help you a lot at the poker tables, especially if your goal is to play to a good advantage over the long term.

Stack convertation into big blinds is a very handy feature during the poker session. It saves the time we spend on finding the right bet size. It's particularly useful for multi-tablers. Changing the bet size every time is tedious, but converting stacks into blinds makes it easier. It's even more useful for players who sit at tables with different stakes at the same time. It's unwise to expend your energy to keep different limits in mind and rearrange your betting. With stacks in the big blinds, the betting size will be the same whether it's NL20, NL30 or NL40.

Initially, this option was only available in poker support programmes like StarsCaption, 888Caption or iPoker Tools. Over time, leading poker rooms have added it to their client settings. PokerStars, PokerKing, and 888Poker have the stack convertation feature. Asian poker apps have also added it to their clients. Stack transfers in BB are available on PPPoker, Upoker and PokerBros. Except that there is an important thing about PokerBros.
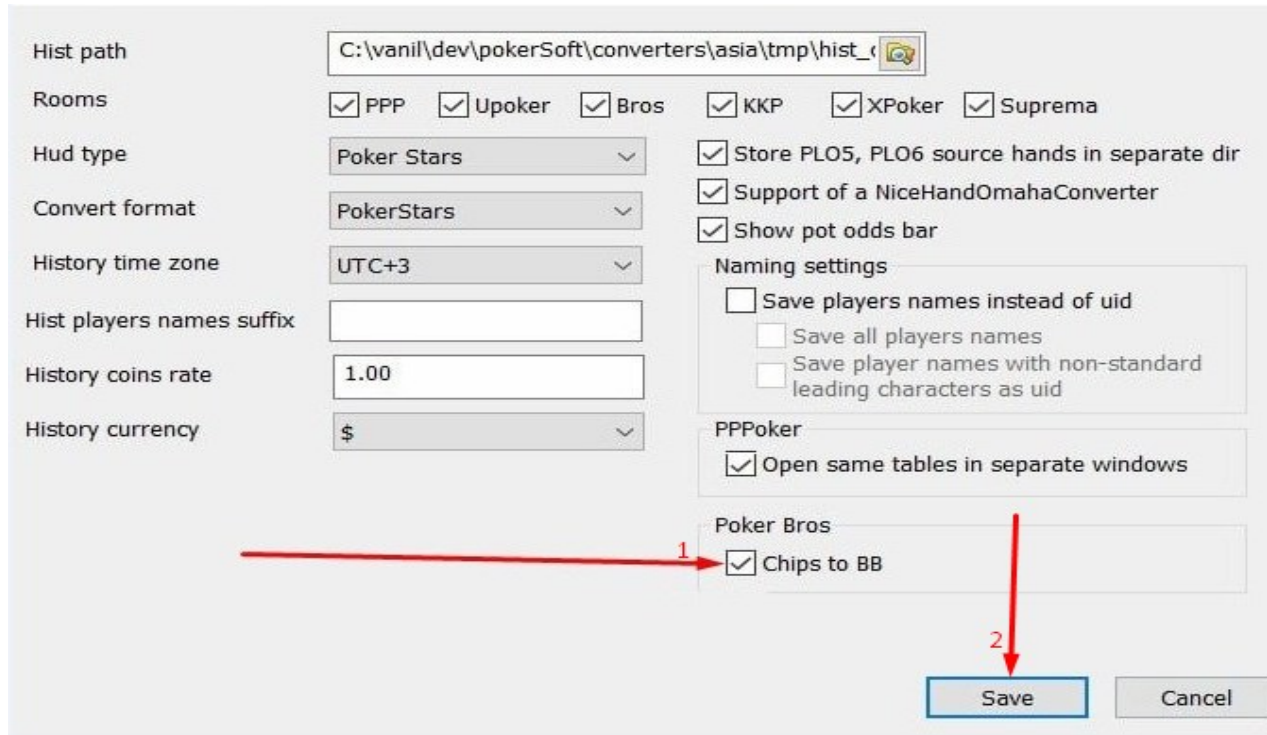

Stack convertation to big blinds on PokerBros is a paid feature. It only works with a paid subscription to a Bronze, Silver or Gold VIP card. It costs $5 per month. Asian Tool displays stacks in BBs for free.

Here's how to convert stacks into big blinds on PokerBros:

1. Launch Asian Tool and click on "Settings" in the main window.
